To whom it may concern,

As a general contractor in Florida we have had the opportunity to work with many different architects over the years, none of which possess the unsurpassed level of customer service and expertise found at Wayne Ferrell architecture.

Commercial buildings, residential estates, additions, historical restorations, engineering services and project design, to name a few of the services that my firm has used. The thing I like most about the firm is their hands on approach; they are involved in the project from concept through completion making every effort to assist in the building process.

I would highly recommend Wayne Ferrell architecture for any design project where quality, creative design and real customer service are needed.

Thank You,
